Homecoming Steamers Filled with Returning Tourists, While Scotland and the Continent Tempt Those Who Intend Remaining Longer Abroad.

[SPECIAL CABLE TO THE HERALD.]

LONDON, Saturday.—Though the London season ended with the departure of the King for Ireland, there have been a great many Americans passing through this week, either on their way to the Continent or to Scotland or to take their steamers for home. The passenger list of the Cedric yesterday, I heard one man say, looked like a small edition of the New York directory, and it is evident that the movement westward has already begun. People who came here early in the week to enjoy a few days of delightful weather have passed most of their time sitting indoors, experiencing mist, thunderstorms and heavy showers.

Mr. H. H. Vreeland left on Monday for Glasgow, where he was entertained at a big dinner. Later he went to Ireland, where he was joined in Dublin by Mr. H. P. Macdonald.
